Barbara Ryan, Rady Children’s Hospital, noted that she believed that the updated Success Report, with its focus on quantitative data, was in line with what the Executive Team was asking for. LaVonna asked Core Team members if they thought it would be OK if she began putting content for mentoring and bullying prevention/character education on the ECC and/or Resource websites. Core Team members were in consensus that adding mentoring and anti-bullying/character education content to the websites was a good idea. The team also agreed that the quantitative data, could act as a baseline for ECC to measure future success.	LaVonna will begin adding content regarding mentoring and anti-bullying/character education on ECC websites.

V. Recommendations to Executive Team for 2012-2013- Steven reviewed ECC's current Goals and Objectives with Core Team members. Core Team members were in consensus that the Goals were still relevant, and although progress has been made toward the Goals, there is still work to be done on them. Based on Core Team consensus, Steven stated that the Core Team's recommendation to Executive Team would be that ECC continue to pursue the current Goals and Objectives in 2012-2013. Core Team members discussed that relationship building is a key ECC activity that is not reflected in ECC's Goals/Objectives.
